COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The first real snow storm of the year is now a thing of the past. I have been told that there was also a bad freezing rain storm last Friday but I was away for the week end, so I missed it. Last year we had very little plowing and winter roads work in December and we finished the year with a large surplus in the account. This year the account is overdrawn by $1,500 as of Dec. 1 and we will probably have several more storms. I guess the financial stand of a municipal account has very little influence on the amount of money available to plow it.

The first week of the final month of the year is nearly over but the rush to pay taxes, has not yet begun. It would be a big help if anyone who usually pay their tax bill the last of December would pay it a week or two early this year.

The all-night ban on parking went into effect on Nov. 1 and most cars have been removed from the street by 11 p. m. after one warning ticket. Any automobile left on the street overnight from now on will get a parking ticket. The men driving the trucks have enough work plowing the streets and roads without dodging parked cars.

STILL ILLEGAL TO STEAL CHRISTMAS TREES IN MAINE

Maine's forest commissioner has reminded the public that the cutting of Christmas trees, tips or boughs on the land of another without written permission of the landowner is a violation of Maine law. Commissioner Austin H. Wilkins emphasized that this applies to individual trees being cut for family use as well as to harvesting on a commercial scale.

"There are no unowned trees in Maine," Wilkins said, "and under Maine law, unauthorized cutting of any number of trees is an offense punishable by a fine of from $25 to $100."

Another provision of the Christmas tree law stipulates that anyone transporting Christmas trees, tips or boughs on Maine highways for commercial purposes must obtain a registration certificate or be in violation of law, Wilkins said. Such persons must also have a bill of sale or other proof of tree ownership, he said.

According to Wilkins, the law is designed to halt the stealing of Christmas trees and greens. Special forestry department patrols and check points will be operating between now and Christmas as a means of enforcing the law, he said.

PUBLIC ASKED TO REPLY TO CHRISTMAS SEAL LETTER

Monday, December 9, has been designated "DO IT DAY" by George W. Wood, III, M. D., Bangor, president of Maine TB and Health Association, in an effort to encourage all Maine residents to answer their Christmas Seal letters. The Christmas Seals, sole support of all Health Associations went into the mail on November 15. "I know," said Dr. Wood, "that many people, beset by the hustle and bustle of preparing for the holiday season, forget to answer their Christmas Seal letter. I hope that 'DO IT DAY' will serve as a welcome reminder that the fine work being carried on by all TB associations depends upon all of us. If you haven't joined this worthwhile cause, I sincerely urge you to do so now."

BETHEL CHAMBER HEARS TALK ON ALLAGASH

In spite of the bad traveling as a result of the first real snow storm of the year, a good representation of the Chamber of Commerce membership turned out to listen to Austin Wilkins, Maine Forest Commissioner, explain the several viewpoints and issues involved, of the Allagash Watershed.

The Chamber met at the West Parish Congregational Church, Tuesday night, and were treated to a supper prepared and furnished by the Women's Fellowship.

At the business meeting of the Chamber, the Winter Advertising Committee, consisting of Norman Greig, Jack Trinward, and Roger Luce, were authorized to proceed with their plans. The Committee on Christmas Tree Lighting, under the leadership of Roy Barker and Blake MacKay, announced that all volunteer helpers are to meet at the Community Rooms next Sunday morning at 9:00 A. M. to put up the colored street lights, weather permitting. The Nominating Committee submitted its recommended slate of officers to be voted upon at the January meeting. Printed copies of the newly adopted Constitution and By-Laws were distributed to all the members with the announcement that under its new name and provisions, the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce would begin its operation in January 1964.

The program of the "Allagash Watershed" was introduced by Richard Waldron, who presented Austin Wilkins to the group. He spoke with fairness and impartiality about the whole problem of the Allagash. Following his talk and use of the area map, his Deputy, Joel Marsh showed a beautiful film of the Allagash region from its beginning in the southern region and extending north to the joining with the St. John River.

The Woodstock PTA met at the high school on Tuesday evening. The speaker of the evening was Trooper John Marshall of West Paris who spoke on "The New Inspection Plan."

This plan will go into effect on January 1, 1964 and is somewhat different from the plan now in effect. These changes are to promote greater safety to the motorists, and greater convenience to car-owners, inspectors and mechanics alike by spreading the inspection dates over a greater period of time without sacrifice of safety for anyone.

Following his speech, Trooper Marshall showed the film, "The Invisible Killer," pointing out one of the causes of the single-car, no-reason car deaths which are so prevalent.

In the meeting which followed the program, discussion centered on ways to safeguard our children on their way to and from school, as well as on other subjects pertaining to our schools. The attendance banner was won by Grade 5, as was also the party to be given to the winner in the membership contest.

GOULD ACADEMY

On Tuesday, Dec. 5, two representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration presented a space science demonstration.

There are 18 of these space mobiles in the United States and several more are now being sent overseas. Demonstrations have been given in Pakistan; India; Africa; Paris, France; Venezuela; Brazil, and other countries. Scientists in those countries are trained by members of NASA.

Then they, in turn, teach their countrymen about American developments in space science. A short history of space flights began the demonstration, giving the Chinese credit for starting this venture by the invention of gun powder which led to modern day missiles, satellites, etc., by discussing several problems which had to be overcome, and some that still need to be solved.

CLANTON - DYKE

Captain Sylvia A. Dyke, daughter of Lt. Col. (USAF Ret.) and Mrs. Sidney A. Dyke of Bethel became the bride Wednesday, November 13, of Lieutenant Norman Gary Clanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Clanton of San Antonio, Texas. The evening ceremony was performed in the Protestant Chapel at Sewart Air Force Base, Smyrna, Tennessee, where both are serving with the United States Air Force.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a short gown of white skinner satin, with bell-shaped skirt, sweetheart neckline, and three-quarter sleeves. Her hat was a small white velvet circle with short veil. She carried a white orchid arrangement on a white Bible.

Captain Frances Hamilton of Houston, Texas, served as the maid of honor, and wore a short dress of cherry red satin and matching velvet circle. Her bouquet was of cascading pink carnations.

Major Donald Garrison attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Captain Jerry Kennedy, Lieutenant Ernest Owen, Lieutenant Paul Sternberg, and Lieutenant James Tremblay. All are stationed at Sewart Air Force Base.

After the ceremony, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Faber were hosts at the reception held in their home in Smyrna.

Lt. and Mrs. Clanton will be at home at 1201 Sam Davis Highway, Smyrna, Tenn.

Those present from out of town were parents of the bride; parents of the groom; sister of the groom, Miss Deanna Clanton, San Marcos, Texas; and Major Raymond Thomas, Memphis, Tenn.

SWAP SHOP OPENS
FOR ANOTHER SEASON

The Sunday River Ski Club is again sponsoring the Swap Shop at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keniston on Chapman Street. This enterprise is of great benefit to the community's winter sports enthusiasts, especially growing children, because it presents an opportunity to exchange sizes or to turn in equipment not being used so that someone may buy it second-hand.

For two years this has been a very successful venture; helping many in their needs for winter sports supplies. Anyone who has such equipment which is not in use is urged to bring it in to sell or swap.

Dennis Wheeler, Kevin Wight, Don Young, John Young, and Robert Swain, manager.

Cross Country letters: Vaughan Damone, Tony Chapman, Andy Buck, Bruce Lane, John Lombard, Raymond Saunders.

Christmas Tea

The annual Christmas Tea at the girls dormitory—Gehring Hall—will be held on Sunday, December 8, from 3:30 p. m. until 5:00 p. m. All Academy students, faculty and trustees are cordially invited.

Christmas Dance

Gould Academy's annual Christmas dance will be quite different this year. Instead of being held in the field house, it will take place in the new William Bingham Gymnasium on the evening of Dec. 14. The Royal Knights of Lewiston will provide the music from 8:00 - 11:00 p. m. with a short intermission at 9:15.

Decide Against Skating Rink

Lack of a suitable place where a rink may be made ready with some certainty that good ice conditions will result, has led to the abandonment of plans for a rink this season. Perhaps at some later date an area will be found where, with normal effort, a satisfactory ice surface can be provided both for Gould students and the younger folk.

— Mrs. Olive Davis, Cor. —
The hunting season is over. Hurrah! Now perhaps human beings as well as the deer will have a little security. When ear, riddled by very slowly hoping to get a shot at a deer on posted land (posted for safety purposes), who feels safe? When bullets are dug out of the back of the house, who feels safe? When people shoot directly toward the houses with high powered guns why shouldn't we protest? When hunters boast of their sound shots or they saw something that looked like an ear, so they took a shot, just where do "human rights" begin? That is why there are so many people posting their land. How can anyone blame them for trying to protect their families and property? Here's why we need more game wardens.

Do You Have A Joint Bank Account Or Share Account With Someone Else? Then Read This!

Question: Will the bank or other financial institution pay the balance to the survivor if one of you dies?

Answer: Yes.

Question: May the survivor keep the balance?

Answer: Maybe, but not more than $5,000, plus.

Question: Plus What?

Answer: $5,000 plus any sums the survivor can prove he contributed.

Question: What happens to the rest?

Answer: Maine law provides the rest belongs to the estate of the deceased depositor.

Question: Why only "maybe" the survivor can keep the balance?

Answer: By Maine law the SURVIVOR IS NOT ENTITLED TO ANY PART OF A JOINT ACCOUNT CONTRIBUTED BY A DECEDENT UNLESS THE SURVIVOR WAS PARENT, CHILD, GRANDPARENT, GRANDCHILD, BROTHER OR SISTER OF THE DECEDENT. Otherwise, it belongs to the DECEDENT'S ESTATE.

Question: Can the survivor keep $5,000 received from joint account in bank A and $5,000 received from joint share account in savings & loan association B?

Answer: No, only $5,000 in all.

Question: Does this information hold true for accounts opened long ago?

Answer: Yes, after January 1, 1964, the 1963 Maine legislature made the law as above stated apply retroactively to all joint accounts WHENEVER OPENED. IF YOU HOLD A JOINT ACCOUNT AND DO NOT WANT TITLE TO PASS TO THE SURVIVOR ON YOUR DEATH, YOU SHOULD CONTACT YOUR BANK OR OTHER FINANCIAL INSTITUTION.

Question: Are joint accounts subject to inheritance tax?

Answer: Yes, along with all other taxable property of a decedent. Banks and other financial institutions are required by law to report joint bank accounts to the state tax assessor on the death of one of the depositors.

POST OFFICE TO CO-OPERATE WITH SANTA CLAUS

The Post Office Department is getting together with Santa Claus this year to make sure that children who write to the North Pole get an answer from the best-known citizen up there, Acting Postmaster Earlon Paine said today.

Part of the Post Office efforts to encourage a wider use of ZIP coded addresses assures children that they will receive a message from Santa Claus if they write to him by December 15 at "North Pole 99701" and use their own ZIP codes in their return addresses.

The enlistment of Mr. ZIP as Santa Claus' newest helper became a familiar fact to children everywhere on Thanksgiving Day when TV network viewers saw the familiar cartoon character in the traditional Macy's Christmas parade in New York City.

Santa's reply to the children's note, to be delivered free of any additional charge through the courtesy of the Postal Service, will be a gaily-decorated card with an appropriate reply to please the children. All that is required is the child's note to Santa with regular first class postage on the envelope, together with the ZIP-coded address and return address.

"We are very pleased to make this service available to the children for their big day," the Postmaster commented. "Actually, we in the Post Office have
